Guide Declares Arrival at Same Time as Mrs. Stillman is Mere Coincidence.

GUES TO MONTREAL

Mrs. Stillman's defense in Montreal 743 will hold forth in another ball- seph B. Donnelly, Philadelphia;

The witnesses Mrs. Stillman has come to Canada to interview, were found by Beauvais several months ago. Beauvais explained his presence at the hotel yesterday by saying he was on his way to spend New Year's Day with his father at Latique and had stopped to see friends. He admitted he had read in a newspaper that Mrs. Stillman was due at the chauteau. He said the coincidence had spoiled his New Year's plans and spoiled his new year of the Major R. L. Leon M. Woodworth, attorney for the bank, announced to-day that a reward of $2,500 has been offered for

The bandit left behind him very definite fingerprints, and these have been checked up with the aid of the New York authorities and, it is said, leave no doubt as to his identity. Mr. Lexow said he expected that the robber would be arrested before nightfall, but possibly he would be able to evade capture for a few days

Mr. Lexow stated that the conviction there had been only one man, had been forced when the statements of the witnesses had been checked up. Many of these were positive they had seen four men unil closely questioned, when they ad. mitted they had seen only one. In their excitement they had been willing to believe anything they heard. Some of the "witnesses" had not been near the scene. The watchman who was shot says he saw only one man.

That the double murder was the work of one man is further borne out by the fact that the car in which the bandit escaped was met in the road going toward Bergen City. In it was blood was streaming from a wound in the face, which to the man who saw appeared to be in the right chees. The bandit left behind his hat when
